At the City of Welland, we're continuously rewriting our story. Not because we don't know where we're going, but because we are constantly reaching for new heights, engaging in new approaches, and pursuing what many believe to be unattainable or too ambitious. We're not satisfied with the status quo, and we're certainly not satisfied with doing things a certain way simply because that's how they were done in the past.

We expect our population to increase to over 80,000 in the next 20 years, and serving a diverse, growing community requires strategic thinkers, norm breakers, and passionate civil servants. In Niagara, Welland's growth leads every other municipality, and the City is becoming the region's heartbeat.

So, we invite you to author your chapter and contribute to the overall body of work the City of Welland is creating. At the City of Welland, your ideas are nurtured, your input is invited, a healthy work-life balance is available, and most importantly, your voice will make a difference.

Under the direction of the Chief Human Resources Officer, the Corporate Health and Safety Advisor plays a key role in creating and maintaining a safe and healthy work environment for all employees. This position supports corporate compliance with occupational health and safety legislation and promotes a strong culture of safety and wellness throughout the organization. The H&S Advisor develops and delivers training, monitors performance metrics, and provides expert guidance to staff, management, and Joint Health and Safety Committees (JHSCs). Through strategic programming, risk analysis, and ongoing communication, the H&S Advisor helps to ensure the organization meets its health and safety obligations and proactively addresses emerging concerns.
